THE WATER WORKS.

Condition and Progress of the Enterprise and the Prospect of Its Speedy Completton.

The work on the new reservoir at the head of Sixth street is progressing rapidly. There are 170 non and 160 hor es and carts daily employed. Up mon and 160 hor es and carts daily employed. Up to date, between 70,000 and 80,000 yards of excavation have been made, which is used in the construction of three dams. The work will be fluished scoper than the contract calls for, and so fer the engineer department has expressed satisfaction with the progress made. Work will be kept up, weather permitting, and operations will soon be begun on the conduit. Stables have been built for 100 or more. Blacksmith shops feed house, and a large commissary departments have been erected. The laborers are paid every two weeks at the rate of $1.25 per day. There will be sixty-seven acres in the reservoir when completed. It will be star shaped, with a depth of thirty feet for waste, which will throw water fifty-five feet figher than any portion of the level of Capitol hill. There are three dams to be built. The largest is at the southeast point of the reservoir, and it is 10 confine the water in that recoptacle. A smaller one will be near the Soldiers home, and will run in a northwesterly and southeasterly direction, and the third will be user the Schuezen park, running from east to west. These small dams are to cut off all surplus water from running fino the reservoir, as tone but Potomac water will be allowed to flow in. So far there has been no obstructed to reverse the server, excavation, and concreting to be done on the reservoir, and from the atatements made it is supposed that matters will be kept going all winter, with the largest force possible. If the weather permits, and it be found adviable by the engineer office. On the West Washington end the contractors, Messra, Quackenbush and Beckwith, are showing a decided enterprise. Work has already commenced there with a large force, and shafts are being sunk, buildings erected for every purpose, and machinery is daily arriving. The progress made so far at that end is an index of the speedy completion of the work. to date, between 70,000 and 80,000 yards of excava-

THE TRAMP'S DELIGHT.

A Christian Who Knows How to Reach

the Hearts of the Lowly. There was a chain of hioly over the door of John Whiteside's chapel on I street northeast last night, when a reporter entered. John had an-uounced to his followers that he would be "at home" on Christmas eve, and his little house would hardly hold the crowd. His guests formed home" on Christmas eve, and his little house would hardly hold the crowd. His guests formed a motiey, but hungry, and altogether a happy crowd of tramps and "bums." John, who was attired in a cost made of a salt sack of ingenous pattern, occupied the pulpit and harangued the crowd for half an hour. When he had concluded his "sermon," which he informed the reporter was from the sermon on the mount, he sang a song. By this time the crowd began to show signs of impationce and cries of "Give us the grub," "Bring on yer hash," &c., became numerous and loud. The song flushed, John announced that he had prepared a little repast for his guests. He led the way to the altar, where bread, ham, and water were placed on a table. The gang fell to devouring it with ravenous appetite, ignoring the knives and forks prepared for them and using their fingers. During the meal John stood by chanting a song in an unknown tongue, closing with, "Yes; Christ will come again." "When?" asked a tramp. "He is here now," said John.

The services and festivities continued until a late hour, but the attendance fell off considerably after the banquet has been discussed. The menting closed with a song. A collection to alid the salvation army, when counted, amounted to several tobacco "quids," cigar stumps, and sundry other odds and ends, but no money.
